THE SOUTH AFRICANS

THE THREE NATIVE RACES THAT INHABIT THE COUNTRY.

The Bushmen, the Hottentots and the Bantus or Kaffirs—These Last Are Much Above the Level of the Others Physically and In All Respects.

When the Dutch fixed their first post at Cape Town in 1652, with no thought either of colonization or of conquest, but for the sake of having gardens which could supply fresh vegetables to the scurvy stricken crews of their ships sailing to the east, they found three native races inhabiting the country. One of these, the Bushmen, though few in numbers, were widely scattered over the whole of South Africa. They were nomads of almost the lowest kind, with a marvelous faculty for tracking and trapping wild animals, but neither owning cattle nor tilling the soil, with scarcely even a tribal organization, no religion and a language consisting of a succession of clicks. Unable to accustom themselves to civilized life, driven out of some districts by the settlers and in others no longer able to find support owing to the extinction of game, they are now almost extinct, though a few are still left in the deserts of the Kalahari and northern Bechuanaland Before many years the only trace of their existence will be in the remarkable drawings of animals with which they delighted to cover the smooth surfaces of rocks. These drawings, which are found all the way from Zambezi to the Cape and from Mamaland to the Atlantic, are executed in red and yellow pigments and are often full of spirit and character.

The second race was that which the Dutch called Hottentot. They were of a reddish or yellowish black hue, taller than the Bushmen, but with squat and seldom muscular figures—a thoughtless, cheerful, easy going people, who roved hither and thither with their flocks and herds as they could find pasture They were decidedly superior to the Bushmen, whom they hated, but quite unable to withstand Europeans, and their numbers rapidly declined, partly from the loss of their best grazing grounds, but largely also through epidemic diseases, and especially smallpox, which ships, touching on their way from India, brought into the country They are now, as a distinct race, almost extinct in the Colony, though a good deal of their blood has passed into the mixed black population of Cape Town and its neighborhood—a population the other elements of which are Malays and west coast negroes, the descendants of slaves imported in the last century. Farther north, on the south side of the Orange river, and beyond it in Namaqualand, small tribes cognate to the Hottentots still wander over the dreary plains

Very different from these weak Bushmen and Hottentots was and is the third native race, those who are called Bantu (a word meaning "people") by themselves and Kaffirs by Europeans The word Kaffir is Arabic, and means an infidel (literally "one who denies") It is applied by Mussulmans not merely to these South Africans, but to other heathen, as, for instance, by the Afghans to the idolaters of Kafiristan in the Hindoo-Kush mountains. The Portuguese probably took the name from the Arabs, whom they found already settled on the east coast These B[illegible] tribes—if we may class those as B[illegible] who speak languages of what is called the Bantu type—fill all the [illegible] from the regions of the upper Nile southward

Those who dwell [illegible] of the Zambezi are generally strong and well made men, sometimes [illegible] of Guinea negro, [illegible] on a brown tint, and though they have the woolly hair and thick lips generally characteristic of the negro, individuals are often found among them whose cast of features suggests an admixture of Semitic blood They are more prolific than the Hottentots, as well as physically stronger and better made, and they were further advanced in the arts of life Some of the tribes dug out and worked iron and copper; all of them used iron Their chief wealth lay in their cattle, horses they did not possess, but where the land was fit for tillage they cultivated it They had no religion, except in a sort of magic, and that worship of the ghosts of ancestors which seems to be the most widely diffused of all human superstitions. Instead of a priesthood, there were wizards or medicine men, often powerful as the denouncers of those whom the chief wished to put to death. Intellectually they were very much upon the level of the native races of West Africa.—James Bryce, M. P., in Century.

Ways of Cats Along Shore.

"I suppose that all cats like fish," said a fisherman "Cats that live along shore hunt for fish They don't like water and they don't go into it if they can help it, but they seek the fish on the beach, and in boats that are hauled up, and in nets that are wholly or partly out of water at low tide. Sometimes they get caught in nets that they have visited in search of fish and are drowned in the rising tide "—New York Sun.

Gayety pleases more when we are assured that it does not cover carelessness —Mme de Stael

Women do many things that get them all out of order. Careless dressing, exposure to draughts, over exertion—these and many others start the trouble. A slight cold may run into the most serious complications. Perhaps none of these things would amount to much if only care were exercised to remedy them at once. Neglect is a most prolific cause of serious female troubles. By and by, the trouble is so much aggravated that the physician's skill is needed and then the dread of the examinations so much in vogue at present, deter the sufferer still longer.

As a matter of fact, examinations and "local treatment" should not be submitted to till everything else has failed. Nine times in ten, they are wholly unnecessary. Women were cured before these obnoxious methods came into practice. For over 30 years, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has been successfully prescribed for all derangements of the womanly organism. It is remarkable for its effect on the whole system. It makes the blood pure, makes digestion better, helps stomach, kidneys and bowels and is wonderful in its effects on the generative organs It immediately begins to allay the inflammation and stops the debilitating drain that is always apparent As the inflammation ceases, the pain stops, the nerves are quieted and the increased bodily strength does the rest.

NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®

NEVADA STATE JOURNAL

SUNDAY, JUNE 21, 1896.

L. P. FISHER, NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING Agent, 21 Merchants' Exchange, San Francisco, is our authorized agent. This paper is kept on file in his office.

THE SILVER PARTY COMMITTEE.

The State Central Committee of the Silver party met here yesterday. Every county in the State was represented by representative citizens. Fifteen delegates and fifteen alternates, all true and tried Silver men, were elected to represent the State in the St. Louis Convention. Among these are our Senators and Representative in Congress, who have battled so nobly for the cause of free coinage in the halls of the National Legislature.

The committee fixed the time and place for holding the State Convention for the nomination of Representive in Congress, Justice of the Supreme Court and two Regents of the State University, and apportioned delegates to the same upon the basis of the votes cast in each county at the general election in 1894, for the late Governor John E. Jones. It also invited the Populists and members of all parties and of none, who believe in the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, to unite with it against the common enemy, the men who uphold the single gold standard and are intent on fastening it permanently upon the country.

There was some difference of opinion as to the propriety of adopting that resolution, as it is possible that the National Silver party may go into the Presidential fight under a different name. The majority, however, believed that much good and no harm could result from the invitation, as it is well known that the difference between the silver men of the several parties in the State is more apparent than real, and that the disposition among all silver men is to unite on one candidate and elect him President of the United States. The convention will, without doubt, should the circumstances justify it, arrange for a union of all Silver men upon equitable terms, a thing, which the committee had no authority to do. The Silver party of Nevada will not haggle about a name or about candidates. It was organized to advance the cause of free coinage. It is composed of men who were prominent in the councils of the Republican and Democratic parties, and who left those parties because of their attitude on the silver question.

The name of Silver party was assumed for the time. It sent delegates to the Omaha Convention and gave the electoral vote of the State to the nominee of that convention, and it has been prepared to give its support to any of the National parties that declared for free coinage, and will doubtless do so in the coming Presidential campaign. Its cardinal principle is "the free and unlimited coinage of silver," and it will fight for that until it is secured.

THE TARIFF QUESTION.

The gold men will now attempt to divert the public mind from the financial question, which concerns every farmer and workingman in the United States, to the tariff question, which mainly concerns the trusts and those engaged in certain industries. It will be impossible for them, however, to divert public attention in the Presidential campaign from the money question. The expenditures of the Government, as appears from the appropriations made by Congress, average over half a billion dollars a year. To meet this expenditure there must necessarily be a high tariff, as the greater part of the revenue of the Government is derived from the duties on imports. The Supreme Court has decided that an income tax is unconstitutional, and the people would rebel if there was an internal revenue tax levied upon anything but tobacco and liquors and bogus butter. We must, therefore, look to the custom-houses for the greater part of the revenue to defray the expenses of the Government, and as these expenses are enormous a tariff for revenue must of necessity be a high tariff henceforth There should be incidental protection, and the tariff should be more equitably distributed than it now is. At present Eastern manufacturers derive all the benefit there is in the tariff, and Western producers are on a free trade basis. That is unjust to the West, whose products should share in the protection afforded by the tariff as well as the manufactured articles of the East, and if the Chicago convention declares for a tariff on Western products, with incidental protection, and for the free coinage of silver, they will stand a chance of retrieving the party from the slough of despond and disgust into which it has been mired by Cleveland.

TELLER FOR PRESIDENT.

The silver men who left the St. Louis Convention when the Republicans declared against the free coinage of silver comprise among others several United States Senators and members of Congress. They have issued an address in which they recite the causes which led them to leave the party which honored them with the highest positions in the power of their respective States to bestow. They appeal to silver men of all parties to unite and overthrow the gold power, which is spreading ruin and desolation through the country; which is enslaving the people and threatens the destruction of our free institutions.

These men, while conceding the right to every citizen to indicate his preference for President, suggest the name of Henry M. Teller of Colorado, a man of the people and for the people, a man of no section, and a man whose experience, service and devotion to common justice and the common cause of his fellow citizens has been as wide as his country, as one upon whom all who are opposed to the gold power can unite for President.

MR. MCKINLEY is said by his admirers to be a man of destiny, and bearing some resemblance physically to Napoleon. He is also superstitious, and begged his manager, Mr. Hanna, not to present his name on Friday. It appears that he overlooked the fact that Napoleon was defeated at Waterloo on June 18, 1815. The silver men remembered it, however, and suggested that the Ohio "man of destiny" should take warning.

Midnight Murder.

LOS ANGELES, June 20.—There is still no clue to the identity of the dastardly midnight assassin who shot and killed Edward White, a railroad man, on Chavese street, near the Fulton Iron Works, last night. White was walking with the wife of Amos Abbott. The woman was arrested but can shed no light on the mystery. Her husband has not been found. The nightwatchman at the Wieland bottling works near the scene of the shooting, saw men sneaking around the fences just before the shot was fired, and Mrs. Abbott says that one of the men tried to hold up White. She ran and as she turned the corner she heard the fatal shot fired.

Montana Democrats.

BUTTE, Mont., June 20.—The Democratic State Convention met here this morning. M. P. Parker of Jefferson county was chosen temporary Chairman, and Sydney Fox of Sweet Grass temporaoy Secretary. The Chairman said that one of the great issues before the people was the free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1. Referring to the bolt of the silver delegates at the St. Louis Convention he said: "The action of the men who resented the attempt to saddle the gold standard on them will meet with the approbation of the people." After the appointment of committees a recess was taken until 3 o'clock.

Ovation to Teller.

DENVER, Col., June 20.—A great popular ovation to Senator Teller will take place July 4th. That date is selected because the Senator telegraphed that he will remain with his mother at Morrison, Ill., till July 1st. There will be a parade, speeches, and a grand illumination of the city. The representatives of other States who walked out of the St. Louis Convention with Teller will be invited to participate in the reception.

Protected by Militia.

PORTLAND, Or., June 20.—Upon the request of the Mayor, Governor Lord ordered out the militia here last night to protect a prisoner, James Dixon, who shot and killed Charles Rice on the 14th, from mob violence. The order had the desired effect. The mob, hearing that the jail was well guarded, did not come. Sheriff Cathcart took the prisoner to Eugene for safe keeping this morning.

People's Party for Teller.

ST. LOUIS, June 20.—The controlling spirits of the People's party have prepared an address to their followers throughout the country, advising them to make Henry M. Teller their National standard bearer.

Senator Dubois and Teller had a conference to-day. Dubois said afterward that if the Democrats nominated Teller they would carry all the Western and Southern States.

A Terrible Wind Storm.

REPUBLICAN, Neb., June 20.—A terrible windstorm, which passed over this section last night, did much damage and resulted in some loss of life. The residence of S. P. Duncan was destroyed and the debris strewn in all directions. Mrs. Duncan was killed instantly. Duncan, two sons and a daughter are badly hurt and may die.

De Young Gets a Place.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 20.—A special to the Evening Post from St. Louis, says that Chairman Hanna, of the Republican Campaign Committee, has appointed M. H. De Young one of the Executive Committee of nine, to manage the campaign, De Young will represent the Pacific Coast on the Executive Committee.

Fatal Row.

ST. PAUL, June 20.—William Scoffner, aged 44, this morning, after an all night family quarrel, shot his wife and put a bullet through his son Paul, who tried to save his mother's life. The son, aged 22, is not expected to recover. The father fired a bullet in his own temple, death resulting instantly.

TELEGRAPHIC NOTES.

At Cateret, N. J., Henry Weidig was drowned yesterday by the capsizing of a boat.

August Myers, a farmer of Jefferson county, committed suicide because he could not secure sufficient help to harvest his crops.

John Lipper of Newark, N. J., had his face and legs badly burned last night by the splashing of molten metal. He may lose his sight.

John Roemly, 50 years old, a carpenter of Trenton, N. J., quarreled with his wife over a dollar last night, and procuring a shotgun killed himself.

John Formholtz and John Lemmon, of Hollidaysburg, Penn., quarreled over the affections of a girl whom both had been courting. Formholtz stabbed Lemmon in the side and fled, Lemmon will die.

Murder Statistics.

In the average annual number of murders Italy leads the list of the European countries, showing a score of nearly 3,000, while Spain drags on a poor second, with only 1,200. France and Germany show returns of 700 each; Austria, exclusive of Hungary, of 500, and Great Britain of 350. Of the latter Scotland provides less than her share, according to the number of her population, showing that time has ameliorated the character of her people since the days of Hadrian and Agricola, and even of later periods. The generous average of homicides shown by Italy is variously accounted for, but it seems to have its root in the character of the people and to have been held up conscientiously during the entire historic period. It was maintained in the season of the Lucomoes, of Arno, and of the Bianchi and the Nevi, as in that of King Humbert and Mulberry Bend.

Professor Grafalo has recently been lecturing on the subject in Rome and attributes much of the tendency to homicide to the existence of the vendetta, which survives in full force in Italy after its practical extinction in other countries. The explanation has some weight, no doubt, but an ampler one is to be found in the fact that the people there are bred in a savage disregard of human life and are ready to appeal to the stiletto on the slightest provocation. At home the custom is looked upon with some toleration as belonging to the locality and the social habits of the people, but when they emigrate these practices are sometimes interfered with. After two or three generations in this country they will no doubt become as peaceable as other people, but at home their habits have so deep a root in antiquity that there is little immediate prospect of their change.—New York Tribune.

John Buster, the Indian who committed the murder in Humboldt county north of Pyramid Lake, will be hanged Friday, August 14th, unless there is a stay of proceedings ordered.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

Many of Them Are Great Swells, Wear Fine Clothes, Live Like Rich Men and Want to Be Gentlemen—An Ex-Detective Explains Their Little Game.

Leaning against the bar in one of the fashionable cafes up town the other night was a man who until recently was one of the brightest detectives in the police department. He had covered himself with glory on more than one occasion under the administration of Superintendent Thomas F Byrnes, but when the shake up in the department came and he was obliged to go he did so without the least feeling of regret.

He did not look like a detective as he sat idly puffing at his cigar. He appeared like a man of the world who had just left a theater or dinner party. Not until he was greeted by a Press reporter did he arouse from a reverie he seemed to be in.

"In every city on the face of the earth," said the ex-sleuth, "that has any pretensions to being cosmopolitan there is to be found a certain class of men who live by their wits, and in living by their wits they do it in a manner that does not place them within the reach of the law, although their methods are far from being honorable. They are a nasty, vicious class of men, beside whom a highway robber or a petty sneak thief is the embodiment of all that is good and decent. Right here in New York that peculiar class of men flourish as they do in no other city in the world, and they go on unhindered from one year's end to another. Most of them are imbued with a desire to become rich and be gentlemen. That may strike you as being peculiar, but it is nevertheless a fact. These men are known to the police as grafters, and they give a good deal more trouble to the authorities than ten times as many hardened criminals.

"See that well dressed, nice looking fellow who is sitting over there in an attitude of studied carelessness, eying the elderly man standing at the cigar lighter? That fellow is a grafter. He dresses like, looks like and talks and acts like a gentleman, and yet it seems to me not more than ten years ago that he was a $5 clerk in a real estate office. His people are very poor and never were able to provide him with any of the luxuries in which he indulges himself nowadays. Yet he can now go into a fashionable restaurant and order a splendid meal from a bill of fare that is printed in French. He is not well up in literature and avoids the subject very cleverly if it is introduced. Still he is a hard student, devotes himself to a few selected books for several hours a day and in other ways tries to improve his mind and his manners."

"But how does he get his money?"

"He shakes dice. He is one of the cleverest dice shakers in this country. In fact, I don't believe he has an equal. The plan he is going to follow now is this, provided he succeeds in making the acquaintance of the elderly man. They will enter upon a general conversation in which he holds his own. They have several drinks. Drinking becomes a consequence, and they drift out in the street together. Does he tell the old man that he is a stranger in New York? Not at all! He says he has been here all his life. He had an engagement to meet some friends at the hotel, but they disappointed him. He comes to another fashionable cafe and asks the old man to have a drink. He drinks whisky, but the drinks are usually small. Perhaps if he gets too many he will lose one on the floor. As they go from one place to another the places will deteriorate, and finally, the old man having had a sufficient number of drinks to make him woozy, the last place will be one in which Mr Grafter has a dice box planted."

"What do you mean by planted?"

"By that I mean that the barkeeper is a friend of the grafter and keeps behind the bar special dice and a special dice box to be used on special occasions. This is one of the special occasions. Perhaps I should explain to you that in order to manipulate a dice box, or rather the dice, the inside of the box must be perfectly smooth. That is because the grafter holds one or more of the dice in his fingers and places it in the box in such a way that it will slide out of the box right side up when the proper time comes.

"Some of the dice shakers have celluloid boxes planted, and this, with a square set of dice, makes the sliding process an easy matter. But celluloid is likely to excite suspicion, so the leather boxes are most commonly in use among dice shakers who are clever at their business. A man who is clever at his business can shake out four aces in poker dice as easily as he can eat his dinner. Not only that, but he defies detection in the doing of it. He would be caught by one of his own class, of course, but the ordinary man would have no reason for suspecting that everything was not right.

"The dice box having been produced, they shake for drinks, and finally it is proposed that they shake for money. Perhaps the old man will not want to bet. If he doesn't and can't be persuaded to, well and good. The grafter has been affable and courteous all the time and continues so. Before they part company, however, it is a pretty sure thing that the grafter has borrowed of the old fellow about what he had spent for drinks, promising of course to pay it back.

"The chances are about even that the old man will bet something, and if he does he loses it, of course, in which case he is jollied enough to make him take the thing good naturedly.

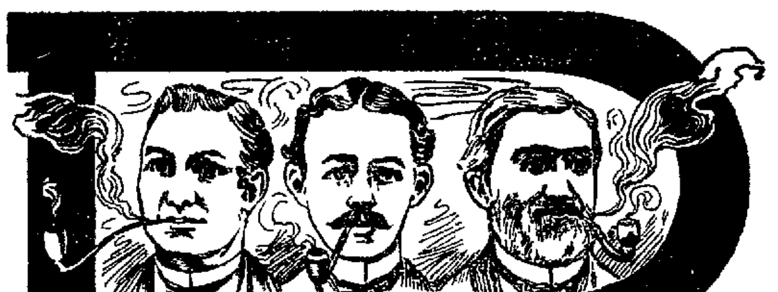

"The clever grafter is not a mean fellow. If the old fellow went broke and the amount of the loan asked was seasonable, the shark would give it to him."—New York Press.

Wasting Tissues.

What is the next thing for our scientific men to discover? Of course we understand that magnificent results would follow the economical storage of electricity, and we all admit that it would be a great comfort to chase birds through the air with wings as good as their own. But there is another matter far more important—namely, to find some way in which the wasting tissues of the body can be restored. As it is now we lose a little more than we gain, and after awhile the tide ceases to ebb and is simply "out." Now, if the poise could be maintained and we could replace what we lose we might live as long as we pleased, but, better still, we might renew each defective function, and live healthily. What a marvelous question that is! And how easy it appears to be to make the needed discovery! Perhaps it will come by and by. Who knows?—New York Herald.

Tradition.

What an enormous "camera obscura" magnifier is tradition. How a thing grows in the human memory, in the human imagination, when love, worship and all that lies in the human heart is there to encourage it, and in the darkness, in the entire ignorance, without date or document, no book, no Arundel marble, only here and there some dumb monumental cairn.—Carlyle

For your Protection.—Catarrh "Cures" or Tonics for Catarrh in liquid form to be taken internally, usually contain either Mercury or Iodide of Potassa, or both, which are injurious if too long taken. Catarrh is a local, not a blood disease, caused by sudden change to cold or damp weather. It starts in the nasal passages, affecting eyes, ears and throat. Cold in the head causes excessive flow of mucus, and, if repeatedly neglected, the results of catarrh will follow; severe pain in the head, a roaring sound in the ears, bad breath, and oftentimes an offensive discharge. The remedy should be quick to allay inflammation and heal the membrane. Ely's Cream Balm is the acknowledged cure for these troubles and contains no mercury nor any injurious drug. Price, 50 cents.
